

Company Policy

Cognizant's core policies encompass a Code of Ethics, Global Human Rights, and localized workplace rules governing leave, conduct, and performance monitoring. While policies vary slightly by region, the following guidelines apply universally to the global workforce. [1, 2, 3, 4, 5]

Key Policies Overview

- Leave Policy: Employees typically receive up to 36 days of leave annually. This usually includes 18 Earned Leaves (EL), 6 Casual Leaves (CL), and 12 Sick Leaves (SL). Unused CL expires yearly, EL can often be carried forward, and SL balances are capped (e.g., up to 18 days). [1, 2, 3]
- Workplace Conduct: The company enforces strict zero-tolerance rules against discrimination, harassment, and workplace violence. The use of alcohol or unauthorized drugs during working hours is strictly prohibited. [1, 2]
- Employee Monitoring: Cognizant utilizes activity tracking and monitoring software. For instance, being inactive for 5 minutes marks an associate as "idle," and 15 minutes marks them as "away from work," providing data on application usage and working duration. [1]
- Ethics and Public Policy: Associates are encouraged to participate in community and civic activities individually, provided they comply with anti-corruption, insider trading, and all local laws. [1, 2]
- Human Rights: Cognizant operates under a strict supply chain and internal human rights policy, preventing forced labor, ensuring fair wages, and maintaining a safe work environment. [1, 2, 3, 4]
